PREFATORY NOTE

FORMER ISSUES OF THE ALUMNI CATALOGUE

From 1845 to 1889 the College issued catalogues of graduates at intervals of three years. Since 1857 the Triennial Catalogues have included lists of officers of administration and instruction. The issue of 1883, the Semi-Centennial Register, and that of 1908, the Seventy-fifth Anniversary Catalogue, contained biographical sketches of the graduates. Since 1889 the general catalogue of alumni has been published at intervals of five years, the dates of publication being 1895, 1900 and 1905.

In connection with the celebration of Oberlin's Seventy-fifth Anniversary in the year 1908, the College issued a general catalogue of all former students, including both graduates and non-graduates. This catalogue, planned for 1908, but really issued in the spring of 1909, took the place of the regular Quinquennial, which, according to schedule, should have been issued in 1910. The issues of 1900 and 1905 contained Locality Indexes of living graduates. In 1905 a section was added giving a summary of the most important events in the history of the College, presented in chronological order. This historical summary was considerably enlarged in the General Catalogue of 1908, and it has been revised and brought down to date in the present edition. The catalogue of 1908 also contained summaries of endowment, scholarships, and material equipment, and these summaries are again shown in the present edition, revised and corrected to date.

THE QUINQUENNIAL OF 1916

The work upon the Quinquennial Catalogue of 1916 was begun in January, 1915, and it was hoped that the material to be printed in the Quinquennial Catalogue would be ready for publication in June, 1915. The delays due to the cramped quarters in the old Administration Building and the interruption of work attendant upon the removal of the college offices to the new Administration Building were so considerable that in May, 1915, it became clear that the original plan could not be carried out. The work upon the new catalogue was therefore dropped and the editor gave his attention during the summer to the regular work of the Secretary's office, not returning to the preparation of the copy of the Quinquennial Catalogue until November, 1915. The inquiry blanks which had been filled out by the alumni in March, 1915, were revised during the winter of 1915-16, and the catalogue as finally sent to the printer bore date of April 29, 1916. It is believed that the information contained in it is fairly accurate for that date.

In the effort to make the catalogue of 1916 as complete as possible the names of all graduates were carefully compared with the entries in the previous catalogues, as well as with the entries in the official records of the Board of Trustees and of the Prudential Committee. The amount of work involved in this careful comparison was very great, but this work is justified by the greater accuracy of the present lists.

The names of the graduates in any department for any one year are shown in two lists, one for men and one for women, the names being followed immediately by a memorandum of the degree granted. It seemed to the editor that this arrangement would be more valuable for reference purposes than the former plan of having a variety of department groups. In some of the lists of graduates, particularly in the years from 1887 to 1900, there have been as many as seven distinct groups within one class: Classical, men; Classical, women; Philosophical, men; Philosophical, women; Scientific, men; Scientific, women; and graduates of the Literary Course. Much saving of time ought to result from the new grouping in the 1916 Quinquennial.

The present catalogue shows for the first time the complete list of recipients of advanced degrees, both earned and honorary. In former alumni catalogues the lists of recipients of advanced degrees excluded those graduates of Oberlin College whose names appeared elsewhere. The presentation in the 1916 Quinquennial of the complete list of recipients of advanced degrees constitutes one of its most valuable features.

In cases of graduates whose names appear in more than one list, the complete information as to degrees, occupation, and address is added in the list of first graduation, and cross references are made in the other lists.

The asterisk (*) has been used throughout this catalogue to indicate the decease of the person thus marked.

The symbol "x" means that no report was received for the 1916 Quinquennial Catalogue, but the address shown is supposed to be good.

Editor 1916 Quinquennial Catalogue.

AN ACT TO AMEND SUPPLEMENTARY SECTION 3771 a

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That supplementary Section 3771a of the Revised Statutes of Ohio, passed April 15, 1889, be so amended as to read as follows:

SECTION 3771a. The Board of Trustees of any university or college heretofore incorporated, but not under the patronage of conferences or other ecclesiastical bodies of any religious denomination, as described in Section 3736, may increase the number of such Trustees to twenty-four, exclusive of the president, or a less number, and may divide said Trustees into six † classes, each class to serve six years, and one class to be chosen each year, for said term; but one trustee of each class may be chosen by the votes of the alumni of such university or college, if the Board of Trustees shall so provide by by-law, in which case it shall also be the duty of the Board of Trustees to provide, by such by-laws, a method of nominating and electing such appointee of

*The date here given is erroneous. It should have been February 28, 1834.

†The Act of April 15, 1889 (86 Ohio Laws, 341), corresponded with this, except that by clerical error it used the word "four" at this point.

Trustees J. D. Cox, J. E. Ingersoll, and E. W. Metcalf, committee, in their report, January 27, 1892, speak of this legislation thus:

"Your committee on a former reference of the matter to them found that there was then no legislation authorizing the election of Alumni Trustees in colleges not under the patronage of ecclesiastical organizations. They drafted an amendatory section of the general corporation laws of the state, and by the efficient aid of the members of the General Assembly from Lorain County, procured its enactment. It now stands as Section 3771a of the Revised Statutes.

A clerical error crept into the printed copy of the bill, for this purpose, and passed into the enacted law. To modify this, your committee proposed a further amendment and with the same aid as before secured its enactment. It corrects Section 3771a of the Revised Statutes, and is found in the Laws of Ohio, annual, Volume 87 (for 1890), page 188."

the alumni. The President of such university or college shall, ex-officio, be a Trustee perpetually, and shall not be included in the classes going out in rotation. If it shall be necessary, in the first enlargement of the board of Trustees, under this section, to distribute new members to the several classes, whose terms shall expire by rotation, the distribution may be made in such manner as the Board may direct, so that no Trustee shall be elected for a longer term than six years.

SEC. 2. That said original supplementary Section 3771 a, be and the same is hereby repealed; and this act shall take effect on its passage.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PERRY M. ADAMS,

President pro tem. of the Senate.

Historical Summary

The chief sources of authority for the statements in the following sections are President Fairchild's "Oberlin: the Colony and the College," and the records of the proceedings of the Board of Trustees. The records of the Prudential Committee and the annual reports of the President and Treasurer have also been consulted, as well as the special pamphlets issued by the College from time to time in connection with the erection of new buildings, and the files of the "Review" and the "Evangelist."

1832. The plan of Oberlin originated with Rev. John J. Shipherd in 1832, while he was pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Elyria, Ohio. Associated with him in the development of this plan was Mr. Philo P. Stewart, formerly a missionary among the Cherokees in Mississippi, and at that time residing in Mr. Shipherd's family. The plan involved a school open to both sexes, with various departments, Preparatory, Teachers', Collegiate, and Theological, furnishing a substantial education with such facilities for self-support as the manual labor system was supposed to present. The design of the institution, as stated in the first annual report (1834), was "the diffusion of useful science, sound morality, and pure religion, among the growing multitudes of the Mississippi Valley." The statement is added that "it aims also at bearing an important part in extending these blessings to the destitute millions which overspread the earth." The school was to be surrounded by a Christian community. From Messrs. Street and Hughes, of New Haven, Conn., a provisional pledge was secured of a tract of forest land, five hundred acres in extent, in Russia Township, in Lorain County, Ohio. In November, 1832, Messrs. Shipherd and Stewart selected the site. In addition to the five hundred acres donated by the original proprietors, a section of land, three miles square, nearly six thousand acres, was purchased at the low rate of $1.50 an acre, and resold at an advance of $1 an acre, thus providing a fund with which to lay the foundations of the school.

There had recently been published in this country an account of the self-sacrificing life of Johann Friedrich Oberlin, a German pastor among the French and German population of a valley on the borders of Alsace and Lorraine. His spirit and achievements seemed so like those which were desired for the new colony that his name was given to it by the founders.

1833, April 19. Arrival of the first colonist, Peter P. Pease, already a resident of the county. Mr. Pease pitched his tent on what is now the southeast corner of the college campus, April 19, 1833. Here the first log cabin was built.

1833, December 3. The work of the institution opened with an attendance of thirty-four students. The total attendance during the introductory term in the winter of 1833-34 was forty-four, twenty-nine men and fifteen women. The plan of work included preparatory, collegiate, and theological departments. The manual labor department was considered by the founders indispensable in any complete educational plan.

1833, December 8. First college building completed, "Oberlin Hall."

1834, February 28. A charter was issued by the Legislature of the State of Ohio to the "Oberlin Collegiate Institute," a title retained until 1850. It should be remembered, however, that the change in 1850 was a change in name only, and not in the grade of instruction. The institution began to do real college work in 1834.

1834, March 10. First meeting of the Board of Trustees.

1834, April 2. First Congregational Church organized.

1834, October. The first class in the College department was organized, consisting of four young men. On October 29, 1834, the first "Commencement," or anniversary, was held. The speakers were Freshmen, and a few others of the more advanced students.

1834, October 30. The first Prudential Committee was appointed to conduct the affairs of the College under the direction of the Board of Trustees, and to report to it.

1835, January 1. Rev. Asa Mahan elected President, a position which he held until his resignation August 28, 1850.

1835, February 10. The Trustees committed to the Faculty the internal management of the institution; "provided, always, that the Faculty be holden amenable to the Board of Trustees, and not liable to censure or interruption from the Board so long as their measures shall not infringe on the laws or general principles of the institution."

1835, February 10. Decision by the Board of Trustees to admit students "irrespective of color."

1835, May. Organization of work in the Theological department. Arrival of many theological students from Lane Seminary, of Cincinnati; also of a number of college students from Western Reserve College at Hudson; these students were attracted to Oberlin chiefly because of its strong abolition sentiment.

1835, July 5-8. Inauguration of President Mahan, Professor Finney, and Professor Morgan.

1835, July 21. Formation of a "Young Ladies' Association of Oberlin Collegiate Institute" for the promotion of literature and religion. In 1846 this society became the "Ladies' Literary Society." Later this society assumed a Latin name, "Litterae Laborum Solamen," and it has since been known by its initials, "L. L. S."

1835, December. By the end of the second year, the institution was fully organized in all its departments, with a total attendance of two hundred and seventy-six students, thirty-five in theological classes, thirty-seven in college classes, seventy-three in the "Female Department," and one hundred and thirty-one in preparatory classes.

1836, February 11. Adoption of a seal, consisting of a simple monogram of the letters "O. C. I."

1836, February 11. Appointment of a "Female Board of Managers." This was a board of women, "with power to regulate and control the internal affairs of the Female Department of the Institute, agreeable to a code of by-laws to be recommended by them and recognized by the Board of Trustees."

1839, January. First issue of the "Oberlin Evangelist." This was a semi-monthly paper of eight pages, established as an organ of communication with the Christian world. It very soon attained a circulation of five thousand copies.

1839. At a time of extreme financial need, Messrs. John Keep and William Dawes were sent upon a financial mission to England. They were sustained by the commendations of distinguished philanthropists in this country, and were cordially received by men of similar spirit in England. By untiring diligence, they raised in the course of eighteen months, $30,000, sufficient to cancel the debts of the Institute. They also brought back to Oberlin six thousand volumes for the Library, and much valuable apparatus for the departments of Chemistry and Natural Philosophy. A petition for assistance and recognition was presented to the corporation of the City of London, and was defeated by the close vote of eighty-one to eighty-three. It was chiefly the fidelity of Oberlin to anti-slavery principles that brought forth this generous support from Christian people in Great Britain.

1839, September 14. Organization of the "Dialectic Society," later called the "Young Men's Lyceum," now known as Phi Kappa Pi Society.

1839, October 30. Formation of "Philomathesian Society," now known as Phi Delta Society.

1841, August 24. Three women, Mary Hosford, Elizabeth Smith Prall, and Mary Caroline Rudd, were regularly graduated from the Classical Course, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts. These three women were the first women in this country, and, so far as is known, in the world, to receive the Bachelor of Arts degree on conditions like those prevailing in the best men's colleges of the time; the course of study pursued by these women was identical with that pursued by men, and was the full equivalent of the course at Yale at that time.

1842. A report upon manual labor, printed in the annual catalogue for 1842, shows the following amounts earned by students: total for manual labor of young men, $6,017.40; total for teaching by young men during the year and during the vacation, $5,405.32; total earned by young women by manual labor and teaching, $1,540.57; grand total for the year, $12,963.29.

1843, August. Tuition in the College Department was increased to $20 per annum. The annual catalogue for 1842 contains the following statement explaining this action: "The Trustees have been compelled "to take this step by the pecuniary exigencies of the Institution, having "no permanent fund for the support of its large board of Professors, "Tutors, and Assistant Teachers. Soon after the opening of the Col- "legiate Department of the Institution, an association was formed in "New York, called the 'Oberlin Professorship Association,' by which "the support of eight professors was pledged to the Board of Trustees. "In consequence of this pledge, and at the request of some members of "the Association, the Trustees informed the public that tuition would be "free in the College as well as in the Theological Department. Owing "to the great fire in New York, in the winter of 1835, and the subse- "quent pecuniary embarrassment of the brethren of the Association, "this fund has hitherto, for the most part, failed; and the Trustees have, "in no year, been able to pay the salaries of the Professors."

1845. "The Oberlin Quarterly Review" was started, "for the dis- cussion of questions of doctrine and duty, and of other questions which occupy public attention." It existed for four years.

1846, February 17. The village of Oberlin was incorporated by action of the Legislature of the State of Ohio.

1847. Organization of the "Oberlin Musical Association." Later, May 12, 1860, the name was changed to the "Oberlin Musical Union." In the sixty-nine years of its history, from 1847 to January 1, 1916, it has given 174 public concerts.

1850, March 21. By act of the Legislature of the State of Ohio, the name of the institution was changed from "Oberlin Collegiate Institute" to "Oberlin College."

1851, August 25. Professor Charles Grandison Finney was elected President of Oberlin College, a position which he held until his resignation, August 19, 1865.

1851, August 26. The trustees approved a movement for an endowment fund by means of "scholarships." The scholarships, each securing free tuition ($3 a term) for one student, were of three varieties, for six years, for eighteen years, and perpetual, costing respectively $25, $50, and $100. They brought to the College about $85,000 for endowment purposes. The immediate result of the scholarship system was the doubling of the number of students, there being an advance in a single year from 571 to 1,020, an increase maintained ever afterward, with four exceptions. Before 1880 nearly all the "terminable" scholarships had been exhausted. There were nearly four hundred "perpetual" scholarships; in many cases the holders of the perpetual scholarships surrendered them to the College as a free gift; in other cases the holders reserved the right to send their own children upon the scholarships, or exchanged them for terminable scholarships; others have transferred them at a price, and only a few remain in force. The Board of Trustees voted, under date of March 5, 1896, to gather in as soon as possible, and at the lowest price possible, all scholarships that could be located.

1852, February 18. A seal was adopted by the Board of Trustees as the corporate seal of the College. The new seal is circular in form, displaying a representation of a field of grain and a college building, with the words "Oberlin College" in the margin above, and the words "Learning and Labor" in the margin below. (See p. 22.)

1854. Formation, by the men's literary societies, of the "College Societies Library Association."

1856. Organization of the second literary society for women, "Aelioian Society."

1858, September 13. The famous Oberlin-Wellington Rescue Case. This was a case of resistance to the execution of the fugitive slave law. A young colored man named John Price, supposed to be a fugitive from Kentucky, a resident of Oberlin for some months, was enticed into the country, where he was seized by four men, put in charge of a Deputy United States Marshal and a Deputy Sheriff from Columbus, and was taken to Wellington. A rescue party, composed of citizens and students from Oberlin and citizens of Wellington, forcibly took Price from the custody of the Marshal, and brought him back to Oberlin. After two or three days Price escaped to Canada. In December indictments were brought against twenty-four citizens of Oberlin and thirteen citizens of Wellington. The trial commenced in Cleveland on the 5th of April, 1859, and continued with slight interruptions until the middle of May, when the cases were put over until the July term. Fourteen of the Oberlin men were in jail from April 15th to July 6th. In the meantime, the four men engaged in the seizure of Price had been indicted in Lorain County for kidnapping. Becoming alarmed, the four men persuaded the United States District Attorney to propose to the counsel for the rescuers that the suits on both sides should be dropped, and this was done. "It was a costly price to pay, but it secured to Oberlin, from that time on, freedom from the incursions of the slave-catchers, and northern Ohio largely shared in the immunity."

This was not the first case of rescue by the citizens and students of Oberlin. As early as 1841, a committee of citizens and students followed a party of kidnappers, and rescued two fugitives who were being carried back to Kentucky.

1858, November. First publication of the "Oberlin Students' Monthly." It was discontinued after two and one-half years, because of the great exodus of students to the War.

1859. Formation of the Ladies' Societies Library Association, an organization composed of the women's literary societies.

1860, May 3. Formation of Second Congregational Church.

1861, April 20. Enlistment of Company C, Seventh Regiment, O. V. I., composed of students from Oberlin College. Four hundred and thirty-one students applied for admission to a company, whose maximum was supposed to be eighty-one. The pressure was so great that a second company was organized, and its roll was filled in the same manner. The second company, however, was not accepted and soon disbanded. The number in the first company was finally sifted down to one hundred and one. A few months after Company C enlisted, Oberlin and vicinity sent a company to the Forty-first Regiment, O. V. I. In the second year of the war, another company went from Oberlin to join the One Hundred and Third Regiment. The same year, when Cincinnati was threatened, nearly all the college students able to bear arms, with many preparatory students and citizens, marched on a few hours' notice, provisioned and equipped with arms and ammunition, to the defense of that city. After several weeks when the danger from the invasion had passed, this company, known as the "Squirrel Hunters' Company," was sent home with honor. Counting students and alumni, probably eight hundred and fifty representatives of Oberlin fought in the War for the Union.

1861, August 24. The Board of Trustees voted to confer the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon six men who were absent in the Army. Credit was also given to students for the time spent in the Army.

1866, June 26. Professor James Harris Fairchild was elected President of Oberlin College, a position which he held until his resignation, June 24, 1889.

1867, August 26. The Oberlin Conservatory of Music, organized in 1865 as a private school, was brought into connection with the College as one of its departments.

1867. French Hall. Construction was begun in 1867, and the Hall was completed in 1868. It was named in honor of Mr. Charles French, of Cleveland, Ohio, who gave $5,000 for its construction.

1867. Society Hall. Construction was begun in 1867, and the Hall was completed in 1868. As originally designed, the first floor contained three lecture rooms, while on the second floor there were library rooms for the College and U. L. A. libraries and a society room, from which the building took its name. The total cost of French and Society Halls was $19,000.

1869, August 4. Formation of Alpha Zeta Society, made necessary by the increasing numbers of members of the other two men's societies.

1870, July 29. First alumni representation on the Board of Trustees. Three alumni, one from the Seminary and two from the College, sat with the Board of Trustees as "Corresponding Members," but they did not have the privilege of voting.

1871, November 15. The third meeting of the National Council of Congregational Churches was held in Oberlin, beginning November 15, 1871. On November 18, the corner stone of "Council Hall" was laid, the home of the Theological Department. It was dedicated August 1, 1874. The total cost was $67,000, of which amount $20,000 was subscribed in Oberlin, and the remainder was received from many gifts for the purpose.

1874, April 1. First issue of the "Oberlin College Review," originally a semi-monthly publication. It was made a weekly in 1887, and a semi-weekly in 1911. The first article in the first issue was by President Fairchild, entitled "A Visit to Waldbach, the Home of Pastor Oberlin."

1874, August 3. The number of corporate members of the Board of Trustees was increased to eighteen.

1874, October 3. Formation of the Union Library Association. This was an organization formed by uniting the College Societies Library Association and the Ladies' Societies Library Association, the membership including Phi Kappa Pi, Phi Delta, Alpha Zeta, L. L. S., and Aelioian. At the time of the formation of the U. L. A. there were 3,058 volumes in the libraries of the two associations. By 1898 the number of volumes in the U. L. A. library had grown to 9,877. On March 1, 1908, the Union Library Association library was given to the College. At the time of its donation to the College it contained 14,456 bound volumes and miscellaneous pamphlets and magazines. In 1914, the name of the Association was changed to Union Literary Association.

1875, July 30. The elective system was introduced into the Department of Philosophy and Arts, in the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior years. The studies of the Freshman year continued to be definitely prescribed. At the same time the "Literary" course took the place of the "Ladies" course.

1877. It was voted that the long vacation in the College year, formerly occurring in the winter, should hereafter come in the summer.

1878, June 8. The number of trustees of the College was increased to twenty-four, four to be chosen each year to serve for six years, one of the four to be elected upon the nomination of the Alumni. The present plan for the direct election of one-fourth of the Board of Trustees by the ballot of all alumni went into effect in 1892, under the authority of the act of the Legislature of the State of Ohio, passed April 11, 1890.

1881, November. Organization of the Oberlin College Glee Club.

1881, November 28. Organization of the Young Men's Christian Association of the College.

1883, June 29—July 4. Celebration of the Semi-Centennial of Oberlin College. The program was chiefly historical.

1883, November 10. Ground was broken for Warner Hall, November 10, 1883. The dedication exercises took place December 20, 1884. The total cost, including important additions which have been made since, was $175,000. It is named in honor of its donors, Dr. and Mrs. Lucien C. Warner, of New York City.

1884, October 6. The corner stone of Spear Library was laid. The building was completed in November, 1885, at a cost of $30,000. It was named in honor of the donor, Rev. Charles V. Spear, of Pittsfield,

Mass. Upon the completion of the Carnegie Library, in 1908, Spear Library was remodeled to meet the needs of the Departments of Zoology and Physiology, and its name was changed to "Spear Zoological Laboratory."

1885. Ground was broken for the construction of Peters Hall in the spring of 1885. The dedication exercises occurred January 26, 1887. The cost was $75,000. This building was made possible by the gift of $20,000 from Captain Alvah Bradley, of Cleveland, Ohio, and of $50,000 from Mr. R. G. Peters, of Manistee, Mich.

1885, June 29. The College assumed financial responsibility for the Conservatory of Music.

1886. Establishment of a Philosophical Course, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. This course required one year less of preparatory work for entrance than the Classical Course, and substituted modern languages for the college work in Greek and Latin. In 1892, the entrance requirements for this course were increased and made identical with those for the Classical Course. In 1901 the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy was discontinued.

1886. The construction of Baldwin Cottage was begun in 1886, and the Cottage was open for use in the spring of 1887. The total cost, including furnishings, was $40,000. It received its name from Mr. Elbert I. Baldwin, of Cleveland, who gave $21,500 for its construction.

1886, April 27. At a special election the village of Oberlin elected a Waterworks Board and voted to issue waterworks bonds to the extent of $50,000. The construction of the water system began in 1887. The source of the water supply is the east branch of the Vermilion River south of the village of Kipton. The watershed owned by the village is 140 acres in extent. The waterworks plant includes a pumping station, built in 1887, a 75-foot standpipe, erected in 1893, and a complete system of mains. The total investment, including a second reservoir now in process of construction, is approximately $140,000. Toward the construction of the waterworks the College contributed $5,220.

1886, August. The construction of Talcott Hall was begun in August, 1886. It was named in honor of Mr. James Talcott, of New York, N. Y., who gave $20,000 for its construction. The money received from the insurance from Ladies' Hall (destroyed by fire in January, 1886), was also used in the construction of Talcott Hall. The total cost, including furnishings, was $65,000.

The construction of the sewer system began in October, 1892. The system includes a sanitary system and a cellar drain system. Through the sanitary system the sewage is conveyed by a large out-fall sewer to a disposal plant located a mile and a half east of town. A separate cellar drain system is provided, the water from which is discharged into Plum Creek at convenient intervals. The total cost of the sewer system to date of January 1, 1916, is approximately $70,000. The College made a special donation of $1,500 toward the construction of the main trunk sewer in June, 1892.

At the end of the fiscal year 1914-15, there were 1,156 active subscribers to the Union, who contributed during the year 1914-15, the sum of $4,069.87. These payments, due yearly, represent a Living Endowment equal to the income the College receives from a regular endowment fund of $81,395. The fund has to its credit actual endowment amounting to $3,292.91. During the fifteen years since the Living Endowment Union was organized in 1900, there has been paid in to the College Treasurer's office, on account of subscriptions to the Fund, a total of $36,804.16. Each year the President and the Prudential Committee may designate the purpose for which the income from the Living Endowment Funds may be used. A rule of the organization provides that payments may be increased, or, on due notice to the Secretary, diminished, temporarily suspended, or discontinued altogether.

Warner, of New York, who provided $45,000 for the building and a special fund of $5,000 for gymnasium endowment. When Professor King became President of Oberlin College, the office of "Dean of the College" lapsed and it has not been filled since.

1901, March 6. Adoption by the Board of Trustees of a plan for permanent Advisory Committees, the departments being arranged in fifteen groups, with a special Advisory Committee for each group.

A general canvass was made among the friends of the College and the alumni, and the fund was completed at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon of December 31. The number of contributors to this fund was 539.

It is one of the largest buildings owned by the college. The total cost was $160,000. It is the center of the men's activities of all kinds—social, religious, athletic, literary, and musical. The third and fourth floors contain dormitory accommodations for eighty-six men.

1909, October 26. The General Faculty voted to approve the inauguration of the "Honor System." This is a system of student government dealing with written tests and examinations. Its purpose is to eliminate dishonesty from the classroom and to keep alive a keen student sentiment against such dishonesty. The movement for the Honor System originated with the Student Senates and was adopted by the student body of the entire college.

1909, November 5. Report of the Committee on Tests of College Efficiency. This Committee of nine members of the College Faculty was appointed by President King in 1908, to study and report upon the problem of adequate testing of the efficiency of a college. Its report, which was published in the Annual Report of the President for 1908-09 and has been separately reprinted, is in the form of a comprehensive outline of tests that, in the judgment of the committee, may properly be applied to the work, results, equipment, cost, etc., of the college under examination. In the two years following the presentation of the report, the entire faculty, divided into four "Efficiency Committees," worked steadily and systematically at the application of these tests to the work of Oberlin College, and brought about numerous changes in the organization, curriculum, instruction, and management of student life in the institution. The special committees have since been discontinued, but the spirit of interest in general college problems, of watchfulness of conditions throughout the institution, and of readiness for prompt and thorough revision at any point of need, has not ceased to be strongly and continuously characteristic of the Oberlin faculty.

The remaining $175,000 came from forty-three other gifts secured between May, 1909, and June 30, 1911. The pledges were solicited with the understanding that one-half of the fund should be used in the construction of new buildings and one-half for endowment. As finally worked out the uses of the fund were as follows: Buildings—Administration Building, $50,000; Men's Building, $155,000; completion of Warner Gymnasium, $30,000; toward the construction of Keep Cottage, $11,000, making a total of $246,000. 1913, February 25. The General Faculty voted to adopt the recommendations from the Theological Faculty that Oberlin Theological Seminary shall hereafter be a graduate school of theology; every applicant for admission shall be a graduate of an institution of college rank, and the practice of granting Theological Seminary credit for work taken in the Senior year of the College course shall be discontinued.

1913, April 19. Work was begun upon the new Athletic Field. At a meeting held in Cleveland in December, 1912, the Cleveland Club of Oberlin Men faced the need of more adequate facilities for out-of-door sport at Oberlin and voted to inaugurate a campaign for raising $50,000 for a comprehensive plan of athletic equipment. Additional acreage was secured west of the former Athletic Park and the total tract of twenty-five acres was thoroughly underdrained. A new football field was constructed, surrounded by a quarter-mile running track, with a 220 yard straightaway. Of the $30,000 expended upon the new field project since April, 1913, only $14,000 has been received from subscriptions; the balance of $16,000 is being carried as a debt by the Athletic Association. Funds to remove this debt and to provide for the completion of the athletic fields are urgently needed.

1913, May 5. Tau Kappa Epsilon Society organized, being the fifth literary society for women.

1913, June 23. On recommendation of a joint committee of the Trustees and the General Faculty, it was voted that for the next five years, ending with the year 1917-18, the general policy be adopted of restricting the number of students in the College of Arts and Sciences, with a view to keeping the enrollment at practically the present number (1,000). This action was taken chiefly to make it possible to turn the added resources of the College for the next few years into improving the quality of instruction offered, instead of barely keeping pace with the numerical growth of the College. In administering the new policy it was expected that it would be found possible to make a more careful selection of students and to secure that closer approximation to equality in the numbers of men and women that the most wholesome coeducation requires.

1913, June 23. Creation of the office of Assistant Secretary. Appointment of Mr. John E. Wirkler to this office.

1913, June 25. Ground was broken for the erection of the new Administration Building. This building is a memorial to General Jacob Dolson Cox. The cost of the building was met by the special gift of $50,000 by Mr. J. D. Cox of Cleveland, Ohio, the interest increments upon this gift, and an insurance fund of $14,000 from the old Chapel. The formal opening occurred February 10, 1915. The total cost of the Administration Building, including furniture and site, was $85,000.

1913, December 11. Appointment of Mr. W. Fred Bohn as Assistant to the President.

1914. During the years 1913 and 1914 extensive improvements were made upon the College Campus. The work consisted of the laying of more than 7,000 feet of drain tile, the laying of water pipes to connect twenty hydrants scattered about the Campus, trenching and fertilizing around the trees, the construction of 4,800 yards of brick sidewalk eight feet wide, around and through the Campus, plowing and reseeding the surface, and the planting of seventy trees to complete the two rows bordering the outside walks. The expense of these improvements, amounting to $21,000, was borne by Mr. Charles M. Hall.

1914. The Dramatic Association was formed. It includes in its membership students and members of the Faculty. Its purpose is to give to the College and the community an opportunity to share in the best that the drama offers, through standard plays old and new, acted by professionals and carefully trained amateurs, and through lectures and readings by representatives of the allied dramatic arts. In somewhat more than two years twelve performances have been given in Oberlin under the direction of this organization.

1914, April 9. Organization of the Women's League, with self-government and coöperation with the Faculty as its fundamental ideas. The League does its work through a Senate, a House Government Department, an Honor Court, and a Joint Council, the latter consisting of the Women's Board of the Faculty and the Executive Committee of the League.

1914, June 22. Announcement was made of a second gift of $25,000 from Mr. Charles M. Hall for the purchase of land needed for the group plan of college buildings.

1914, December 27. Death of Mr. Charles M. Hall of Niagara Falls, N. Y., of the college class of 1885. Mr. Hall's will, when offered for probate, was found to contain bequests for Oberlin College amounting to nearly $3,000,000, as follows: (1) a gift of land for arboretum, forestry, and park purposes; (2) a gift of valuable art objects, including fifty Oriental rugs valued at $25,000, four paintings valued at $7,000, and nineteen pieces of pottery valued at $6,000; (3) a gift of $500,000 for a great auditorium as a memorial for Mr. Hall's mother, and a further gift of $100,000 for the endowment of this building; (4) a gift of $200,000 for the endowment of the Campus and other college grounds, and of the arboretum, forest reserve, and park; and (5) a gift for endowment purposes of a one-third interest in his estate, Oberlin's share being conservatively estimated to be worth at least $2,000,000.

At date of the printing of this catalogue (April 29, 1916), the College has received the gifts of land and art objects mentioned above. It is expected that the three specific bequests in the above list, amounting to $800,000, will be paid before the end of the year 1917, and that the income for endowment will be available immediately thereafter.

1915, January 6. Death of Dr. Dudley P. Allen, of the college class of 1875. Dr. Allen's last work for the College was upon the plans for a new Art Building, and after his death his wife, Mrs. Elisabeth Severance Allen, offered to assume the entire cost of the construction of the new building, $165,000, to make it a memorial for Dr. Allen. It will be called "The Dudley Peter Allen Memorial Art Building." The construction of the Art Building was begun July 7, 1915, and it is expected that it will be ready for use in the fall of 1916. The site of the Art Building is provided by Mrs. Allen's brother, Mr. John L. Severance, of the college class of 1885.

Following closely upon the gift for the new Art Building, word was received from Mrs. Allen of two additional gifts provided in Dr. Allen's will. (1) A gift for the Mrs. A. A. F. Johnston Endowment for Instruction in the History and Appreciation of Art, announced in September, 1915. This is a special trust fund consisting of securities having a value of approximately $100,000, held and managed by the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, as trustee, the income to be paid to the College for the purpose above mentioned. (2) A gift of $100,000, announced in January, 1916, one-half of this amount to be used in or toward the construction and equipment of a hospital building, to be known as "The Allen Memorial Hospital," for the use of both Oberlin College and the Village of Oberlin, and the other one-half to be a special trust fund to be managed by the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, as trustee, to be known as "The Dudley P.

Allen Fund," the income therefrom to be paid to Oberlin College for the Jennie Allen Nurse Fund, or so much thereof as may be needed in the furtherance of said work in Oberlin, and the balance, if any, to collegiate hospital services for equipment or operating expenses.

1915, March 12. Dedication of the new organ in Finney Chapel, the gift of Mr. F. N. Finney and Mr. C. M. Hall. The cost was $26,000.

1915, June 4. A decision was announced by the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio in the "Benjamin Rose Institute" case, the effect of the decision being to continue the former practice of the State in exempting from taxation the endowment funds of colleges and other institutions of purely public charity. The Rose Institute case had its origin in a suit brought in the courts of Cuyahoga County in June, 1910, to enjoin the Treasurer of that county from collecting taxes that had been levied upon certain real estate and personal property (endowment) held for the benefit of the Institute. The decision of the Court of Appeals of the Eighth Ohio Judicial District (July 8, 1912) relieved the personal property (endowment) from taxation. The Treasurer and Auditor of Cuyahoga County thereupon brought a proceeding in error to reverse this decision. The decision of the Supreme Court, June 4, 1915, affirms that of the lower court.

Prior to the settlement of the Rose Institute case, eleven citizens of Oberlin made a formal appearance (August 20, 1912) before the Auditor of Lorain County, asking that that part of the endowment of Oberlin College that was invested in stocks and bonds be listed for taxation. Upon the refusal of the Auditor to grant this request, an action in mandamus was brought under date of January 18, 1913, before the Court of Appeals of the Eighth Ohio Judicial District, asking that an order be issued by the Court compelling the Auditor of Lorain County to so list the stocks and bonds of the College for the purposes of taxation. On hearing, the Court denied the petition on the ground that it had no authority to order the Auditor to do the act requested.

1915, June 14. An arrangement was authorized by the Board of Trustees by which the work of the Treasurer's office is to be divided, and that part of it which has to do with investments is to be hereafter in the charge of the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, as "Endowment Trustee for Oberlin College." The service of the Cleveland Trust Company in this capacity commenced February 16, 1916.

1915, November 12. Upon recommendation of the General Council, the Board of Trustees voted to discontinue the Academy Department at the end of the school year of 1915-16. This action followed a number of years of consideration of the subject. The steady decrease in the attendance of Academy students in recent years indicated clearly the changed conditions that have come in the work of secondary education in the country at large. The essential work performed so honorably by the Academy throughout its eighty-three years of existence is now being adequately carried by the public high schools of the country. In taking the action discontinuing the Academy the Board of Trustees made special financial provision for the teachers of longest service in the Academy work.

1915, December 31. During the fifteen years since 1900 the village of Oberlin has made a great improvement in the condition of its streets. The former crude stone-slab paving has been replaced by paving-brick laid in concrete. At date of December 31, 1915, there were 8 3/10 miles of brick-paved streets within the village limits, and 1 5/10 miles of macadam and flagging.

Of the special assessments collected in Oberlin during the thirteen years from 1903 to 1915, Oberlin College paid an average of 19 per cent. These assessments were for paving, sidewalk, and sewer improvements.

The system of accounting used in the Treasurer's office for some years after 1876 does not show distinctly the increase of endowments from year to year. In 1894 a careful effort was made to list the gifts to permanent funds, made between 1876 and 1894, and all such gifts or funds were erected upon the ledger and credited to their proper departments. Those funds which were undesignated for any special object or which were designated for objects of general interest were put under the heading University.

Since 1894 the endowments have been as follows:

ANNUITY FUNDS

The preceding sections do not contain unmatured annuity funds. The aggregate of unmatured annuities at August 31, 1915, was $121,100.47.

SPECIAL ENDOWMENT FUNDS

Mrs. A. A. F. Johnston Endowment for Instruction in the History and Appreciation of Art, $100,000—This is a special trust fund created (1915) by Mrs. Elisabeth Severance Allen of New York, N. Y., held and managed by the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, as trustee, the income derived being paid to Oberlin College and used to support the Mrs. A. A. F. Johnston Endowment for Instruction in the History and Appreciation of Art.

The Hall Bequest—By bequest of Mr. Charles M. Hall, of the class of 1885, a one-third interest in his estate will ultimately come into the possession of the College for endowment purposes. Oberlin's share is conservatively estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

OTHER GIFTS

In addition to the gifts mentioned in the preceding list and those named in the sections describing Professorships, Scholarships, and Buildings, a very large number of important special gifts for current expenses and other immediate uses have been received from time to time by the College. In recent years the practice of the College has been to print the names of donors in the Annual Reports of the President and Treasurer. In the early years, before the printing of the Annual Reports, many gifts were received without this printed acknowledgment. It is manifestly impossible to print at this point the names of the thousands, who, in the early years, contributed to the current expenses, or of the contributors in more recent years to the Dascomb, Fairchild, Finney, Johnston, Michigan, Monroe, and Morgan professorships, the Class Funds of 1900, the Half-Million Fund of 1901 (539 donors), or the Living Endowment Union. The total number of contributors to Oberlin College during these years probably exceeds five thousand.

Gilchrist Banking Fund for Students of Oberlin College, $11,686.23—Founded (1906) by a bequest of $9,500 from Mrs. Ella J. Gilchrist Potter, of Alpena, Mich., as a memorial for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gilchrist, of Oberlin—a loan fund “for indigent and self-supporting students of either sex.” The original gift has been increased by interest payments of $2,186.23, making the total amount in the fund at date of August 31, 1915, $11,686.23.

Jones Loan Fund, $2,384.00—Originating (1859) in a bequest of $500 by a Miss Jones of Syracuse, N. Y., and increased by sundry small gifts and by the payments of interest on loans.

Edith Ely Metcalf Loan Fund, $200—Founded (1915) by Miss Edith Ely Metcalf, of Chicago, Ill., for young women.

May Moulton Loan Fund, $666.25—Founded (1904) by the gift of $500 by Mrs. Susan A. S. Moulton for the purpose of making loans to deserving women students. The payments of interest have been added to the fund, bringing the total to $666.25.

Parker Fund, $1,000—Founded (1914) by Leonard F. Parker of Grinnell, Iowa. The income of the fund is to be loaned to Juniors and Seniors, who look forward to distinctively benevolent or Christian service.

Perkins Loan Fund, $267.60—Founded (1912) by gift of $250 by Mrs. Mary F. Perkins, of Santa Barbara, Cal., for the benefit of young women.

Scholarship Loan Fund, $2,290.17—Since 1898 such repayments of scholarship aid gifts as have been made by men have been credited to this fund, and the money thus secured has been used as a loan fund for college men. The outstanding loans at date of August 31, 1915, amounted to $2,290.17.

There are also several small loan funds not separately erected on the Treasurer's books, the total principal amount being $309.67.

Mention should here be made of the Shedd Fund, $10,000. This fund, established in 1902, is classed among the endowment funds (see page 72). While ordinarily the endowment funds of the college are invested in stocks, bonds, mortgages, and real estate, the Shedd Fund is invested in loans to Juniors and Seniors.

Miscellaneous Statistics

Explanatory Notes

Note A. The College Department was known by this name until the year 1875; from 1875 to 1893 it was known as the Department of Philosophy and the Arts; from 1893 to 1906 it was called "the College;" since 1906 it has been called the College of Arts and Sciences.

Note B. The Theological Seminary has appeared under the names Theological Seminary, Department of Theology, and Theological Department.

Note C. The Conservatory of Music. Names of students in this department appear for the first time in the general catalogue in 1869.

Note D. Preparatory Department. The name of this department was changed in 1892 to "the Academy." For a number of years the students in the "Scientific Course" were included in the totals of the Preparatory Department.

Note E. Drawing and Painting. The first separate classification of students in this department was in 1885. From 1885 to 1896 the names appeared under the heading "School of Art;" since 1896 the department has been called the Department of Drawing and Painting.

Note F. Summer Session. For many years a Summer School was conducted by members of the Faculty under private management, but since 1899 the Summer School has been operated by the College. In 1906 its name was changed to "Summer Session." The figures shown in the table are exclusive of duplicates. The total registration in the Summer School during these years has varied from eighty to one hundred and ninety. During the period from 1835 to 1877, when the long vacation occurred in the winter, a Winter School, corresponding to the present Summer School, was conducted yearly by members of the faculty under private management. The students in these winter schools were not included in the totals for these years.

Note G. Ladies' Course. At first all women students were classed in the "Female Department." In 1836 the name was changed to "Ladies' Course," and all women not otherwise classed were grouped under this head. As early as 1836 there were women enrolled in the Preparatory Department. Two years later there were women in the college classes. From 1869 to 1874 the name was "Ladies' Department." In 1875 the Literary Course was organized as a part of the Department of Philosophy and the Arts, and the Ladies' Course was dropped as a separate department.

Note H. Teachers' Course. This course appeared as a separate department in the catalogues from 1846 to 1853. From 1854 to 1864 it was treated as a part of the Preparatory Department, and the schedules of students were arranged by the Principal. In 1864 it was continued as a separate department under the name "Scientific Course," the Principal of the Preparatory Department continuing his oversight of the schedules of students.

Note I. Scientific Course. This course appeared as a separate department from 1864 to 1874. There were three graduates during the years 1873-75. In 1875 it became a part of the Department of Philosophy and the Arts. During the years 1896-1900 there were twenty-seven graduates of the Scientific Course in the College Department.

Note J. Physical Training. From 1894 to 1900 a small number of students were catalogued separately under the name "Normal Course in Physical Training for Women." In 1900 the course was enlarged, with advanced requirements for admission, and since that time the students have been counted in the totals of the College Department. From 1900 to 1904 it was a course for women only. Since 1904, it has been for both men and women.

Note K. Duplications. Prior to 1870 there were no duplicates in the annual catalogues, the student being counted in that department in which he elected the greater portion of his work. Soon after the opening of the Conservatory of Music as a separate department, it was found difficult to determine the exact classification of students, and for twenty years (from 1871 to 1890) the practice was followed of listing a student's name in each department in which he studied. During this period of twenty years a large deduction was therefore necessary in order to show the exact number of students enrolled. This yearly deduction is given in a separate column, in parenthesis. The duplications were almost entirely the cases of students who combined work in the Conservatory with either preparatory or collegiate studies. Since 1891 the former practice has been resumed, and the student's name has been catalogued in the department in which he has taken the greater portion of his work, the duplication of names being thus avoided.

Note L. In 1835 there were also enrolled eighty additional students in the Winter School.

Note M. In 1836 eighty preparatory students were transferred to Elyria High School, and the auxiliary schools at Austinburg, Sheffield, and Abbeyville.

Note N. In 1837 the Institute was too poor to publish a catalogue.

Note O. The catalogues of the years 1840-43 contained this note: "In accordance with the general usage of Academies, the catalogue of "the Preparatory Departments is a report of the past year. In all other "Departments, the Catalogue exhibits the present state of the Insti- "tution."

Note P. 1861. The College total, 199, included 46 who were absent in the Army.

Note Q. 1862. The College total, 147, included 31 who were absent in the Army.

Note R. 1877. The long vacation was changed to the summer instead of the winter.

Note S. Since 1891 the catalogue summaries have carefully excluded duplicates, and the enrolment has represented the attendance of the academic year, from September to June. Since 1899 the totals have included such Summer Session students as have not been enrolled in any other departments during the year.

Prior to 1891 the enrolment figures were computed by the calendar year, from January to December, rather than by the present method, where the period covered includes only the academic year, from July to June. In order to make just comparisons with preceding years, the Secretary has counted the enrolment figures by both the old method and the new, and has found that either the former figure should be decreased by 20.4 per cent, or the latter figure should be increased by 25.6 per cent.

Note T. In explanation of the large loss of 254 students in passing from the year 1910-11 to the year 1911-12, it should be noted that the larger part of the loss is in the Conservatory and Academy Departments. Beginning in 1911, children in the public schools, who happened to be carrying one study in the Conservatory or in the Department of Drawing and Painting, were excluded from the enrolment totals. This change of method of counting explains the loss of 42 names in the Conservatory totals and seven names in the totals in Drawing and Painting. The main reason for the remainder of the shrinkage in the Conservatory totals was undoubtedly the rigid enforcement of the new standards for entrance, with the exclusion of all students not of college rank. A net loss of 68 students in the Academy Department is probably accounted for in large part by the increase in the Academy term bill from $50 to $75 a year. The net loss of only six students in the College of Arts and Sciences is a remarkable showing when it is remembered that the college term bills were increased from $75 to $100 a year.

Note U. Beginning in 1912-13 the separate classification of students in the Department of Drawing and Painting was discontinued. Since 1912 those students in Drawing and Painting who are of college rank and have met college entrance requirements have been included in the totals of the College of Arts and Sciences; all others have been added to the totals of the Academy Department.

Note V. The figures for 1915-16 are not complete. They include all students who have been in attendance at any time during the present academic year to date of March 1, 1916, including those who studied in the Summer Session of 1915.

Part III

The Graduates of the College
Arranged by Departments and by Classes (or Years) in Each Department

A. Graduates of the College of Arts and Sciences

The "College Department" was known by this name until the year 1875; from 1875 to 1893 it was known as "The Department of Philosophy and the Arts;" from 1893 to 1906 it was called "The College;" since 1906 it has been called "The College of Arts and Sciences."

For Summary of Degrees and Diplomas, see page 93.

1. Recipients of first Degrees and Diplomas, including Bachelors of Arts, Bachelors of Philosophy, Bachelors of Science, Bachelors of Letters, and graduates of the Literary Course

For many years, from 1837 to 1873, the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A.B.) was the only degree issued by the College. The course of study that led to the degree, known as the "Classical Course," contained a prescribed amount of both Latin and Greek.

From 1864 to 1900 there was a "Scientific Course," appearing in the catalogue either as a separate department or as a part of the department of Philosophy and the Arts. A total of thirty-one students have received the degree of Bachelor of Science (S.B.),—one in 1873, one in 1874, one in 1875, and twenty-eight in the six years from 1895 to 1900, inclusive.

The first graduates of the "Philosophical Course" received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy (Ph.B.) in 1887. In the Philosophical Course modern languages were substituted for the classics. This course was organized in 1886 and it continued as a separate course until 1900.

Beginning with the graduates of the class of 1901, the distinction between degrees was abandoned and since that time the degree of Bachelor of Arts has been the one degree conferred by the College.

Graduates who completed the work of the course known from 1886 to 1874 as "The Ladies' Course" and from 1875 to 1894 as "The Literary Course," received diplomas at graduation. All such graduates are designated in this catalogue by the abbreviation "Lit." When the Literary Course was terminated in 1894 the Board of Trustees gave authority to the college officers to issue the degree of Bachelor of Letters (L.B.) to any holder of a diploma of the former Literary Course who might apply for it, upon payment of the usual diploma fee; in cases where this exchange has been made the entry appears as follows: "Lit. (L.B.)."

2. Recipients of Diplomas of Graduation from the Teachers' Course in Physical Training

Prior to 1904 the name of this course was "The Normal Course in Physical Training for Women," and from 1894 to 1900 a small number of students were catalogued separately under this heading in the college catalogues. In 1900 the course was enlarged, with advanced requirements for admission, and since 1900 the students have been counted in the totals of the College Department. Prior to 1904 it was a course for women only; in 1904 the name was changed to "The Teachers' Course in Physical Training," and the work of the course has been taken by both men and women.

B. Graduates of the Theological Seminary

Prior to 1875 no degree was conferred upon the completion of work in this department. Beginning with the class of 1875, the degree of Bachelor of Divinity (D.B.) was generally, although not invariably, conferred upon the graduates of the regular course. Since 1898, except in rare cases of exceptionally high scholarship, the degree of Bachelor of Divinity has been conferred only upon students whose preparation for the work included a full collegiate course, with Greek.

In 1887 the "English Course" was established "in view of the present urgent need of more ministers and of the fact that many young men now in secular business would be willing to give their lives to the preaching of the Gospel, but cannot pursue a course of preparation extending over ten years; it is designed for mature young men who, though possessing perhaps but a common English education, have acquired, in practical business, familiarity with affairs and acquaintance with men; it is believed that by two years of judiciously applied study, men of this class can acquire such a knowledge of the English Bible, of systematic theology, and of other fundamental branches as will qualify them for great usefulness in many fields." During the years from 1889 to 1900 there were sixty-eight graduates of the English Course. On recommendation of the Theological Faculty, the Board of Trustees voted in 1898 to discontinue the course, and the last graduations from this course occurred in 1900.

The care of the Slavic Department is committed to the faculty of the Theological Seminary. The names of the graduates of the Slavic Department will be found on pages 586-588.

A considerable number of the graduates of the Conservatory prior to 1903 have been awarded the degree of Bachelor of Music to replace their diplomas of graduation; in each case the action has been taken by vote of the Faculty and Board of Trustees, after the presentation of satisfactory evidence that the recipients have more than met the increased literary requirements governing the bestowal of the degree.

D. Recipients of Masters' Degrees, both in Course and for Prescribed Work, including Masters of Arts and Masters of Science

Prior to 1898 the College followed the practice of the other colleges and universities in conferring the degree of Master of Arts (A.M.) upon those graduates who subsequently pursued three years of professional study. For many years the following entry appeared in the college catalogue: "The degree of Master of Arts is conferred upon any Bachelor of Arts of three or more years' standing who has been engaged in literary or scientific pursuits, and has sustained a good moral character."

This practice was terminated in 1898 by vote of the Board of Trustees upon recommendation of the Faculty. Since that time a year of resident graduate study has been required for the degree of Master of Arts, with the requirement that the course of study must receive the preliminary approval of the Committee on Graduate Study and Degrees, and that the work done for the degree shall be of high quality.

The degree of Master of Science (S.M.) has been bestowed twice,—once in 1876 and again in 1895. The other degrees listed in this section are Masters of Arts.

1846

The records of Masters' degrees issued in 1846 have been lost. That some such degrees were issued in 1846 may be inferred from the vote of the Board of Trustees authorizing the conferring of the second degree of the arts "to those graduates who have pursued their three years of professional study and who may apply for the same." A similar vote was passed in the year 1847. The number of A.M. degrees granted immediately before and immediately after the years 1846 and 1847 would also indicate the probability that there were issued by the College during these years some A.M. degrees, the record of which has been lost. A similar statement may be made for the year 1849.

Alphabetical Index of All Alumni

Alphabetical Index of All Alumni

The figures indicate the year of graduation.

The following letters, appearing before the figures, indicate the department (or course) from which the person graduated:

- t.—Theological Seminary (pages 481-522).
- c.—Conservatory of Music (pages 523-542).
- p. t.—Physical Training Course (pages 469-480).
- m.—Master's degree (page 543-572).
- h.—Honorary degree (pages 573-585).
- s.—Slavic Course (pages 586-588).

The entry of year-figures without any preceding letter indicates graduation from the College of Arts and Sciences (pages 195-480).

Names of married women appear twice: under maiden names, and under married names.

The figures in this index refer to first graduation; no effort has been made to show the other degrees or other graduations of the person concerned; this information can be secured by turning to the complete entry to be found in Part III of this book (pages 193-588).
